ROADBLOCKS

Previously a SAP customer, Magnox wanted a solution that better suited the size of the business and gave them more control to access timely, consistent, reliable information in a format that is easy to analyze for decision making.

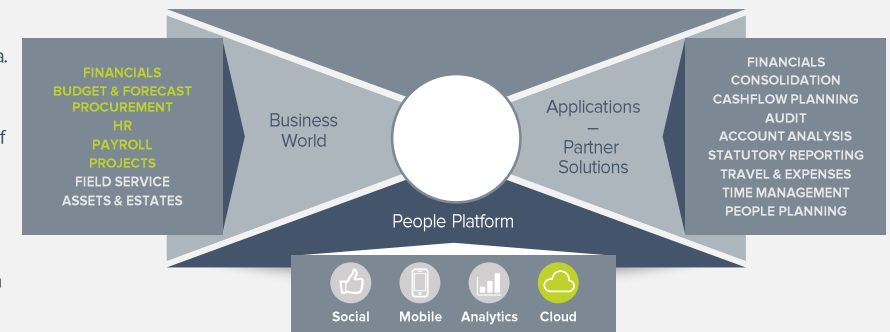

RISKS

Magnox needed a solution that could be easily customized after implementation as well as offering rich functionality. Without such a solution, the business risked being unable to meet current and future needs.

How did Unit4 help?

Streamlined processes let teams easily access consistent and reliable data. Magnox created an L&D portal, fed from Unit4 Business World, so line managers can keep track of teams' training and development needs efficiently and increased user satisfaction. The team now aligns processes, streamlines operations and has achieved a reduction in administrative effort, while ensuring compliance.

What did we achieve?

Monetary savings

The team has been able to achieve its planned reduction in admin effort in Learning and Development since implementing Unit4 Business World.

Improved operations

12-month training plan now processed automatically overnight – achieved streamlined processes across all sites, with team leaders owning their teams' learning & development.

Efficiency and governance

In consolidating multiple spreadsheets, numerous systems and processes and implementing a single solution, Magnox can adhere to the strict regulatory framework imposed on the business.
