

New-generation SIS for the next generations of institutions

Higher education is a new game with new rules, so you need a new approach and new tools — tools designed for more growth, better performance and greater student success.

New-generation SIS

Introducing our new-generation student information system (SIS), Unit4 Student Management, an integrated solution suite for joined-up management across the back and front office. It helps you streamline and automate the entire student lifecycle from outreach to alumni, and supports all your processes from admissions to analytics.

Future-proofed student experience

Our SIS upgrades the student experience and helps you accommodate new academic models to meet the needs of non-traditional learners. It allows you to develop new economic models to compete in a global, consumer-mindset marketplace, and focus on transparency to meet increased regulation and scrutiny. Our SIS application gives you 360-degree visibility over finances, data and people to support your strategic initiatives, retain the best talent and manage relationships with students, alumni and donors.

Next-generation institutions

Institutions using Unit4 Student Management admit more best-fit students, serve them as customers and support them throughout their entire journey. They have better student-to-staff ratios, reduced staff turnover and a lower total cost of ownership of their SIS.

Built for change

Unit4 Student Management is designed to help you meet the needs of the new, commercial higher education market; it gives your institution the flexibility to adapt to ongoing change. With this new tool, your institution will see accelerated growth, better performance and higher research quality — which all leads to greater student success.

Discover how Unit4 can help you future-proof your institution with a new-generation SIS.
